Preconception care

While exploring paths to parenthood, it's important to prioritize your own reproductive health. Studies show that making healthier lifestyle choices early in the planning process can lead to significantly better health outcomes for both mother and baby.<sup>5</sup>

What is preconception care?

Available to all members enrolled in UnitedHealthcare, preconception care is personalized, preventive care that addresses risks to potential birthing parents and their partners, whether you're planning to conceive now or in the future.

Preconception care typically entails screening for diseases that may affect reproductive organs, prescriptions of vitamins like folic acid, reducing tobacco and alcohol consumption, and proactive management of chronic conditions that can affect conception and birth, like high blood pressure or diabetes.

Did you know?

Prenatal vitamins are an FSA-eligible expense. Your FSA account information is available anytime at wageworks.com.

86%

of women don't receive preconception care during OB/GYN visits<sup>5</sup>

1/2

of pregnancies are unplanned, increasing risk of preterm birth and low birth weight babies<sup>5</sup>

Schedule an appointment with your provider to discuss your preconception care plan. If you need help finding a provider, contact a UnitedHealthcare Advocate at 1-833-312-1227, 7 a.m.-10 p.m. CT, Monday - Friday, or go on myuhc.com®.

For members enrolled in UnitedHealthcare, you have access to Maven® Preconception Support. Maven provides 2 clinical programs: one for those trying to get pregnant within the next 12 months, and one for those who want to maintain their overall wellness and reproductive health.

Here's how it works:

- Members go through an onboarding clinical assessment and are then paired with a personalized Care Advocate.
- By working with members to assess their goals and help meet their needs, Maven Care Advocates will create a custom health plan and assemble a care team made up of expert providers from Maven's virtual clinic.
- Care teams for Maven Planning members provide holistic preconception care. One member's personalized team may include an OB/GYN, nutritionist, career coach, mental health provider and a fertility awareness specialist, among others.

This is all done virtually through Maven Digital platform. Activate your free membership by scanning the QR code, downloading the Maven Clinic app, or visiting mavenclinic.com/join/getsupport.

Family Reimbursement Program

If you are thinking about adoption or surrogacy, Greenberg Traurig is here to help you welcome your new child. With Maven, you have support to cover the costs of bringing a new child into your family. Eligible U.S. employees and their covered spouse or domestic partner qualify for this benefit.* Greenberg Traurig will reimburse an eligible employee up to a lifetime maximum of $35,000 of “qualified adoption expenses” or “qualified surrogacy expenses.”

To learn more about the Family Reimbursement Program and explore a list of eligible expenses, download the Maven Clinic app, or visit mavenclinic.com/join/getstarted.

Surrogacy options

Surrogacy

A surrogate child is carried via gestational/traditional surrogacy. Surrogacy and gestational carrier options are important because there are individuals who are unable to carry a pregnancy to term.

Traditional surrogacy

When a person donates their own eggs and becomes pregnant, usually by artificial insemination or transfer of a fertilized egg into their uterus, for the purposes of carrying a baby for another person. A traditional surrogate has a genetic link to the baby.

Gestational carriers

A gestational carrier, or gestational surrogate, is a person who becomes pregnant, usually by transfer of a fertilized egg to their uterus for the purposes of carrying a baby for another person. The gestational carrier is not the source of the egg and has no genetic link to the baby.

Please refer to your policy for additional information.

*A benefits eligible employee is an employee of Greenberg Traurig who is regularly scheduled to work at least thirty (30) hours per week in a U.S. office location, paid on the U.S. payroll, and eligible for the Greenberg Traurig Benefit Program on or after the effective date of the program.

Breast pump coverage

Under your UnitedHealthcare medical plan, breast pumps are covered at 100% when utilizing a network provider.

What type of breast pump is covered?

Using a breast pump in between regular breastfeeding can help you maintain your milk supply. Most UnitedHealthcare benefit plans include coverage for the purchase of a personal-use, double-electric breast pump at no cost to you. These are the most common pumps and they closely simulate the action of a breastfeeding infant. You can find which brands are included by contacting the national breast pump suppliers listed below.

Other types of breast pumps include manual breast pumps, hospital-grade (multi-user) pumps and hands-free pumps. Most UnitedHealthcare benefit plans do not cover these types of pumps.

How to request a breast pump

To request a breast pump, call the phone number on your health plan ID card, or you may contact one of the national network providers listed. You will need a physician prescription to get a breast pump. Make sure to note that you will not be reimbursed for a breast pump purchased at a retail store.

Navigating the newborn months and beyond

Newborns don't come into the world with adult-friendly sleep habits. That's primarily because of their tiny tummies – newborns generally need to eat between 8-12 times in 24 hours, including at night. So, don't expect a newborn to sleep for long stretches at first.

Maven pediatric sleep coaches can educate on newborn and infant sleep. You also have access to virtual group classes on Breastfeeding, Newborn Care, Infant CPR and many more.

Through the Maven Parenting & Pediatrics Program, as a parent of a child(ren) age 1-18, you will have access to coaches and specialized pediatric care. You will be provided with daily curriculum specific to each stage of childhood development. You will have access to childcare consulting and tools to navigate childcare options, with member discounts for select childcare and education services.

Balancing it all with a Maven career coach

You can't take life out of work. So how do you manage it, especially if you're responsible for a family, a job and you're taking care of yourself?

For working parents, a core component of Maven career coaching revolves around balancing work and life. Working parents often put themselves on the back burner. Within your first session of working with a Maven career coach, you will work to identify what are your challenges and then brainstorm the path to clarity.
